Suspect awaiting possible extradition

Capital murder charges brought in mother-daughter shooting deaths

By BRENDA HEATHCOCK
A former Hancock County resident who has faced burglary charges in both Mississippi and Louisiana is charged with two counts of capital murder in connection with the Nov. 11 shooting deaths of Jeannette Holden and her mother, Dorothy G. Tassin.

Twenty-nine-year-old Dedeaux native Jeffrey J. Ladner at week's end was awaiting extradition proceedings in a Jefferson Parish, La. jail.

He was arrested most recently in Hancock County Aug. 6 on a charge of attempted breaking and entering of an occupied dwelling.

Those charges are expected to be brought before the next Hancock County Grand Jury, according to Hancock Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson.

Ladner this week was arrested at approximately 12:30 a.m. Thursday following the discovery of several items of jewelry which belonged to Holden in Ladner's apartment in River Ridge, La., according to Hancock County Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Louisiana State Police Tuesday notified Hancock County officials that an "expensive ring" had been offered for sale to a Metairie jewelry store by Ladner, Peterson said.

Identification of the ring was made by Holden's son Dennis Grabert of Metairie, her daughter Tessie Gross of Shoreline Park, and through a photograph of Holden wearing the ring.

Following the identification of Ladner in a lineup as the person who had brought the ring to the jewelry store, a search warrant was issued for Ladner's apartment, Peterson said.

Both Hancock County Sheriff's Office personnel and Louisiana State Police officers conducted the search of Ladner's apartment, he added.

"During the course of the search numerous items of jewelry which belonged to the victim were found," Peterson said.

In addition, officers found approximately two to three ounces of marijuana in Ladner's apartment, Peterson added.

Following the search, Ladner was charged in Louisiana with possession of stolen property, possession of marijuana and parole violation, he added.

The investigation which continued through Thursday also revealed Ladner had sold the victim's watch to his sister-in-law for $300.

The watch also was identified by both of Holden's son and daughter and through a photograph.

Also turned up in the investigation was a .32 caliber pistol believed to be the murder weapon which was stored at the home of Ladner's father-in-law, also in River Ridge, Peterson said.

Officers said the gun was retrieved by Ladner from the home two days prior to the killings and returned the afternoon of the incident.

The gun, a partially used box of shells, Ladner's fingerprints and fingerprints taken at the scene of the crime have been sent to a crime laboratory for analysis, he added.

The two Hancock County women were killed in their mobile home located adjacent to the Brass Anchor Lounge which they operated on US-90 about a mile west of Waveland.

The bodies of Holden, 44, and Tassin, 66, were discovered about 11:28 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 11 by Holden's daughter Tessie Gross.

Peterson said laboratory tests show both women were shot at close range in the head.

Holden was found in the bedroom on the side of the bed and Tassin was in the hallway, he added.

"They were apparently sleeping or had just gotten up because both women were still wearing nightgowns," Peterson said.

An autopsy revealed that both women were shot with a .32 caliber handgun between 6 and 7 a.m., he added.

According to Peterson there was no sign of forced entry. The trailer door was unlocked when Gross arrived.

Both the back and front doors to the lounge were also unlocked, contrary to Holden's reported habit of keeping the doors secured at all times, the sheriff noted.

Ladner was reported to have worked as a handyman for Holden.

County official alters office hours to permit additional field work

By DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Road Maintenance Superintendent's Office is changing hours.

Beginning Monday, the office will be open from 7 a.m. until 4 p.m., Maintenance Superintendent Bill Johnson said.

Johnson said he had decided to change the office hours to provide himself more working time in the field.

The superintendent is actually in the field during much of the day but remains in radio contact with his secretary, Suzanne Beech.

The office is temporarily located in the Highway 43 Community Center in Kiln and may be reached by telephoning 255-3367.

When construction of the county's central maintenance barn on a site adjacent to the west side of the community center property is completed, the office will be moved into that building.

Since the supervisors followed the results of a June voter referendum by implementing the unit system in October, Johnson has been handling the board's day-to-day business of road and bridge maintenance.

"In reality, the board of supervisors is not elected to be road foremen. They are elected to be administrators," Johnson said.

"They deal with many areas in addition to road maintenance."

While Johnson can schedule routine maintenance and drainage work as well as act upon any maintenance or drainage-related complaint from the public, matters pertaining to budget, policy or to any type of capital outlay including new paving must still be referred to the board.

Part of Johnson's job is to set up a

Wastewater district worries reduced by $11,900 from county

By DENA BISNETTE

When the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District Board meets Wednesday, its members will have $11,900 less to worry about providing for a project that will eventually result in sewerage for some county residents.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to provide the funds.

The board approved the funding after a Wednesday morning meeting with Ray Eaton of Jackson, a consultant representing one of the district's engineering firms.

The board had voted four-to-one Nov. 13 to provide funding in an unspecified amount for a change in a grant eligibility survey and a set of maps for Garden Isles, Jourdan River Isles, Jourdan River Estates and part of Shoreline Park.

Beat Three Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner voted no to supplying the funding, which at that time was estimated at $14,900.

The four subdivisions have been selected by the district as the most feasible sections of the county's unincorporated area for construction of the first public sewerage systems in Hancock County.

Those systems are supposed to eventually be tied in to the district's current project, a linkage of the Waveland and Bay St. Louis sewerage collection systems and improvements that will enable the existing Waveland wastewater treatment plant to handle the extra load from the added city.

According to Eaton, the funding will provide for reworking the grant eligibility survey and maps under a different U.S. Environmental Protection Agency regulation than the one under which the work had originally been submitted.

Eaton explained that the original regulation had required that all residential buildings constructed before or during 1972 be mapped; listed according to construction date, type of existing wastewater disposal system and average amount of sewerage flow; and the information be verified by a house-to-house survey.

The regulation now being used added five years to the survey by requiring that all houses constructed up to and during 1977 be included.

All the statistics involved will have to be reformulated, Eaton said.

The original $14,900 cost was reduced to $11,900 after the State Bureau of Pollution Control and District Administrator Ethel Schott reached an agreement with the U.S.

Environmental Protection Agency, allowing Eaton to submit the original version of a part of the survey known as an innovative analysis study.

"This new rule applies to all counties, not just this district," Eaton said.

"Your project just happened to be the only one this far along and the first one to get caught up by the rule."

The county may be able to get the money back, he added.

He said the funds could be reimbursed through 85 percent grant funding.

"Bureau of Pollution Control can't guarantee the money, but they will support us," Eaton said.

"We have applied for the reimbursement."

He said he does not yet have specific information on how the money would be repaid to the county. The payments could be made through the district, or the money could be applied to the county's share of local funding for the project, which is being financed through federal grants, interest-free state loans and local funding.

The wastewater board meeting Wednesday will begin at 6:30 p.m. in Waveland City Hall.

General election to confirm results of Waveland primary

By DENA BISNETTE

The results of a Nov. 4 primary election will be confirmed by the electorate Tuesday in a Waveland general election.

Under Waveland's special charter, each candidate is required to receive at least one vote in the general election in order to be officially elected or re-elected.

None of the candidates are opposed. Opposition in Ward One and Ward Four was eliminated during the primary.

The candidates are all incumbents and include Mayor John Longo Jr., Ward One Alderman Barbara Rap-pold, Ward Two Alderman Bob Hubbard, Ward Three Alderman Louis Smolensky and Ward Four Alderman Herman Yarborough.

Also selected in the primary were five members for the Waveland Democratic Executive Committee. They include Dolores Richmond, Milton C. Bernard, Beverley Zimmerman, Ruth Meilleur and Jay Fleuriot.

The polls are scheduled to open at 7 a.m. and close at 6 p.m.

Condominium units bring new vitality to Coleman Avenue

By DENA BISNETTE

One of the most visible signs of new development along Waveland's Coleman Avenue is Friendship Oaks Condominiums.

The four-story high condominiums are the tallest buildings in Waveland and are located on Coleman Avenue near Beach Boulevard.

The complex was developed by Panorama, Inc., and units are being sold through Ashman-Mollers Realty in Waveland.

"We have the tallest buildings between Gulfport and Sibley, and the only condominiums with a view of the water," said Dix Ashman.

"We knew when we started that it could stimulate downtown," he added, pointing out other development along Coleman Avenue that has occurred since construction began last year.

One existing convenience store has changed ownership and has expanded its services. A restaurant building that had been vacant for more than a year has been remodeled and has reopened under new ownership. A new antique shop recently opened as well and additional downtown office space has been developed.

In addition, there are plans for a recreation and health facility to be constructed between Friendship Oaks and the restaurant property.

"The main thing is that we feel Friendship Oaks is a tremendous addition to Waveland and Hancock County," Ashman said. "For years, there was nothing there. The site was just vacant property."

"We like seeing old downtown Waveland being revived."

Each building in Friendship Oaks is designed with characteristics of a different nationality. For example, the British building is done in a Tudor style and the French building has wrought iron designs on its balconies. A Japanese pagoda contains a greenhouse and a recreation building is designed in a style characteristic of Ashman's native Canada.

The remaining residential buildings are American and Swiss in design.

The complex is decorated with flags of the countries represented, in addition to an ornamental waterfall, brook and pond accented with a Japanese bridge.

"The international concept has been well accepted. That's what's different about it; the buildings are different and people like the activities available," Ashman said.

In addition to the greenhouse, residents and guests have use of a heated indoor pool, card room, shuffleboard and tennis courts, a hobby shop equipped for woodworking and other crafts, barbecue facilities and a sundae.

Although there is one single family home between Friendship Oaks and Beach Boulevard, condominium

Diamondhead man remains hospitalized after gun accident

BY DENA BISNETTE

A Diamondhead resident remains hospitalized with injuries resulting from a Wednesday night gun-related accident.

Fred Lalla of 981 Kaimi Street was in stable condition Friday at Memorial Hospital in Gulfport, a hospital spokesperson said.
Hancock County Sheriff's Investigator Alvin Ladner said Lalla had apparently been trying to unjam a .25 automatic pistol when the weapon discharged.
He was alone in his residence at the time.

The gunshot went through Lalla's shoulder, Ladner said.
"It is my understanding that initially, when he was asked who shot him, he simply stated that he had no comment," Ladner said. "I talked to him later and he told me he had shot himself while trying to unjam a handgun."

The investigator said robbery had been ruled out because "nothing appeared to be disturbed in the house."
He said Lalla apparently contacted the sheriff's department himself at about 9:27 a.m., but the exact time of the accident has not been determined.

Ladner said some time may have passed between the accident and the time it was reported.
The sheriff's office contacted Diamondhead Fire Department, which arrived on the scene first, and firefighters reported finding Lalla lying on the kitchen floor.

Assisting at the scene in addition to Diamondhead Fire Department were Bay St. Louis Police Department, Diamondhead Security and Mobile Medic Ambulance Service.
Ladner is in charge of the investigation.

County Agent's Notes

By Lee Taylor

Our Cattlemen's Association meeting this month was really a success. We had our largest crowd with 122 folks attending. Hancock County is fortunate to have such an active farm related organization.

The County wins an award yearly for having the largest percent over quota. At our meeting this month James Ladner, president, called the meeting to order and the business of the association was discussed.

A fund-raising program is presently being conducted by the membership with a 30-06 high powered rifle to be given away on Dec. 23. Contact a member of the association.

Also this past month a successful dance at the Kiln VFW was sponsored by the Cattlemen Association, and another is scheduled for March.
As many of you know, the 1988 National Beef Cookoff Contest will be held in Mississippi. Our local organization hopes to support this event along with other County Cattlemen Associations across the state.

Another goal is to support 4-H youth in beef projects and to give more support to the County Fair. If you're interested in joining the county association, dues are only $20 per year. This enables you to attend 4-5 meetings per year and we always eat a ribeye steak. An educational program is held at each meeting.
Also by being a member you can order your Dixie National Rodeo tickets and room reservations through the association. In addition the State and National Cattlemen Associations work to help cattlemen in legislative situations and in advertising beef. If you're not a member and want to be, contact me at 467-5456 or call James Ladner at 255-7218.

Garden Fertility

Now is a great time to soil test your garden. If your garden didn't produce this year, your soil fertility could be low. Lining is one of the most overlooked practices in gardening.

A soil test can tell you if you need lime and how much to use. Now is the best time to apply lime as the winter rains could leach it into the soil.

Don't forget to test your ornamentals and turf, correcting a fertility problem can sometimes mean success or failure. Remember, don't guess, soil test!

What about American home-grown terrorism?

A few days ago some of our home-grown terrorists announced a cross-burning in Idaho. Another political splinter announced a convention to unite the Ku Klux Klan and "Aryan Nations" in the Northwest.

Newspapers, radio and TV have carried feature stories—rivalling the attention paid the confrontation of Reagan and Gorbachev in Iceland or Great Britain's welcome diplomatic rebuke to Syrian terrorism.

And as a matter of fact, whether home-grown or international, terrorist groups and their potential are coming to be recognized as one of the most dangerous challenges to liberty and self-government to be found.

With the daily discussions in the newspapers and over the air, a good many Sunday School classes are being told that "the Aryans" have wrong ideas. One person said of their views while being interviewed in Spokane, "that's one thing we don't need out here for sure!"

Another said there was little real danger, for "there are a lot of good people and only a few bad ones." Both Roman Catholic and Protestant church groups have held public rallies condemning the terrorist racists. Lola Evans, wife of the Governor of Idaho, was one of the speakers in one rally.

These are good people, and in the long run they represent what is vital and dependable about America.

What concerns us now is the short run: we need an Early Warning System on potentially genocidal movements, and we need some new approaches on how to put them out of business as rapidly and painlessly as possible.

Axiom: the German Nazi Party was a terrorist movement before it ever became a criminal government with the power to commit genocide.

Meanwhile the Federal authorities are beginning to move against some members of the terrorist network. Their approach reminds us that they finally caught Al Capone not for the serious crimes his gang committed but for income tax evasion. Right now two terrorists are being prosecuted for trying to pass counterfeit bills.

Few in number but violent in both theory and practice, "the Aryans" consist of fragments and cells of the KKK, neo-Nazis, "the Church of Jesus Christ Christian" (i.e., not of Jesus the Jew, who was of David's lineage), Brueder Schweigen ("the Silent Brotherhood"), Strike Force II, "the Order," "the Second Order," and so on.

This network is proletarianized in the classical sense—in the society, but not of it. They do not think as loyal American citizens think, nor do they have the same love of the American Constitution and the liberties it protects. They live in a different world and have a different hope for the future. It is a hope that to most Americans looks like a nightmare.

Fascination with guns and violence is part of the atmosphere of these cells. While one member was known for pushing his racist views in a lumber plant where he worked, and where he quit after other employees resisted his missionizing, another's friends say of him that he was never a racist. Instead, as one of them said, "he gets his kicks by fantasizing. He's got this fantasy about being a real mercenary-type GI Joe...sort of like a Rambo."

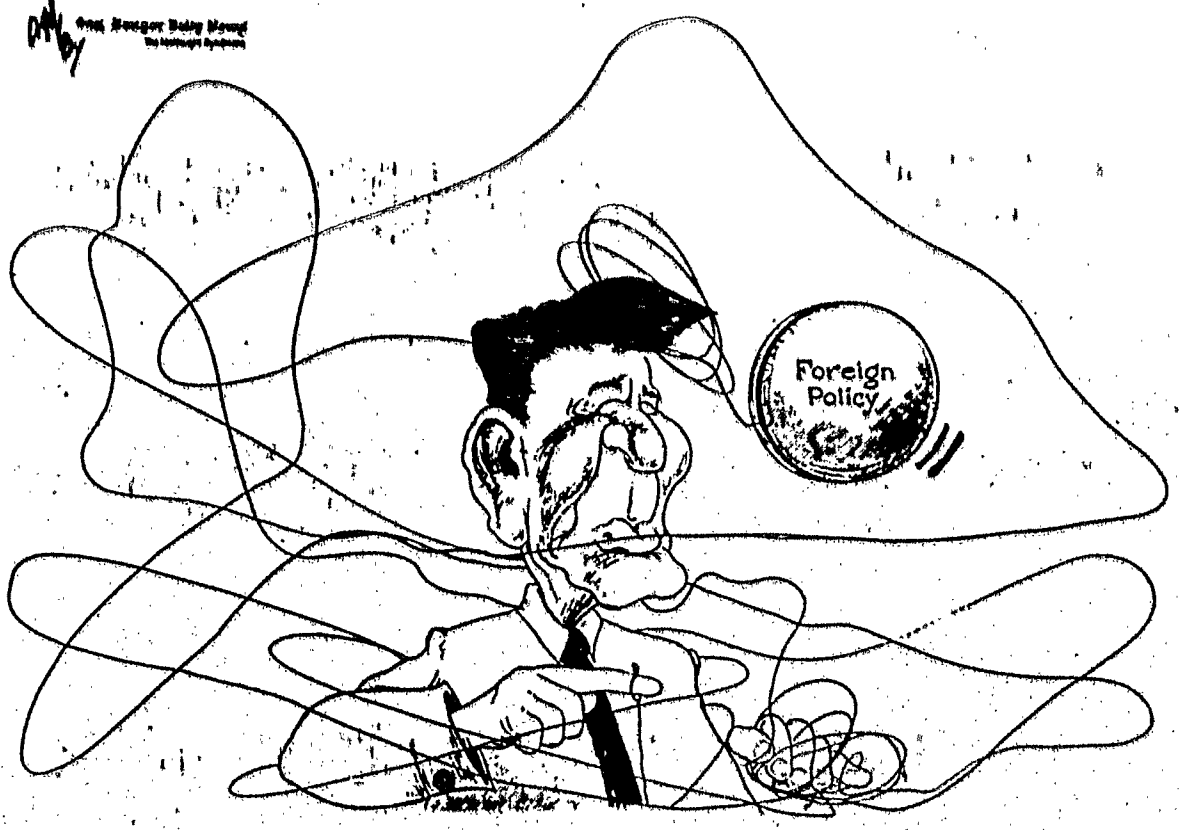

But as the record of the 1920-23

coalescing cooperation between the then tiny Nazi Party and the Freikorps in the Weimar Republic amply documents, an alliance between ideological racists and unemployed Ramboes can be very dangerous.

So far we have lucked out, in America. But how long will our luck last? And how long will it be before the politicians treat the issue of terrorism—both international and internal—as something more than a buzzword in political speeches?

So far ninety-nine and forty-four hundred percent of the people of Idaho—and the rest of the beautiful and rugged Northwest—would applaud decisive action to put terrorist conspiracies out of business. But the loyal, law-abiding citizens are quietly anxious, for they know something that apparently hasn't occurred to those who think the whole thing is a matter of opinion: the terrorists have the guns, and they are getting more.

From Mississippi Economic Council

ANOTHER DAY OF DECISION AT MEC

The 14 businessmen gathered around the conference table were in deep discussion, debating an issue of significant economic and political implications. The discussion drifted away from the economic implications, centering on political expediences.

A former chairman of the organization which the group represented listened to the discussion for several minutes before he chose to speak. When he spoke he delivered a gentle lecture, reminding associates that the organization which they represented had been built on principle, the ability and the courage to rise above political considerations and make decisions based on the best interests of Mississippi and Mississippians.

In three minutes the former chairman had put a three-hour debate back on track; the group made a decision based on what they believed to be best for the state.

That meeting took place a few years ago. The 14 businessmen were members of a committee of the Mississippi Economic Council. The former chairman was Morris Lewis Jr., an Indianola businessman and a nationally recognized business leader who had served 10 years before as chairman of the council.

The 38-year history of the council is filled with similar events—days of significant decision when council members have put Mississippi and Mississippians above political, and even selfish, interests.

November 19, 1986, was another day of decision for the council. And, as has become the rule for the organization, the state's business leaders put aside political expediences and selfish interests to speak up for Mississippi.

The issue was the economic advancement of Mississippi. Can the state advance economically without improvements in its system of higher education and without improvements in its system of transportation?

The answer was no. Members of the Board of Directors of the Mississippi Economic Council, representing every geographic section of the state, agreed that there must be additional funding for higher education and there must be an accelerated highway construction program.

The decision came after serious discussions. Members of the council had made a tour of the state's public universities; they had learned first hand how the universities were cutting corners, how students are living three to a room on one campus while the institution holds a waiting list of more than 500 students needing campus living quarters. They had learned of programs and activities have been reduced, how some admitted unnecessary duplication had been eliminated, how laboratories are in need of repair and upgrading.

Board members also recognized that more can be done to make better use of existing resources; even the university presidents admit that. But MEC board members were convinced, after their investigation, that process is being made and that the universities were deserving of support from the state's business leadership.

Members of the council had met with the State Highway Department officials and with legislators on the question of highway improvements. They came away convinced that highway user fees and taxes presently being collected are being used for highway construction and maintenance.

The council's directors are aware that the administration of the Highway Department is in need of revision. They believe highway commissioners should be appointed rather than being elected. They believe highway construction must adhere to a strict plan based on priorities.

The present chairman of the council, Gulfport utility executive Alan Barton, explained the board's reasoning, "We cannot allow our universities and our transportation system to disintegrate further while we debate the issues of reorganization and reform."

That doesn't mean MEC has abandoned its plea for reorganization and reform; those efforts will continue.

It does mean that the Mississippi Economic Council believes that something must be done now; thus council members are willing to bear the burden of a tax increase, if necessary, to move Mississippi ahead economically.

It means that, once again, the Mississippi Economic Council has taken a leadership position in the state, just as it has been doing for the past 38 years.

COST OF DOING NOTHING ON HIGHWAYS IS TOO GREAT

Mississippi's poor highway system is a barrier to the state's economic advancement. There seems to be little question about that.

Highways across Northeast Mississippi are jammed with heavy transport trucks feeling their way across cluttered, narrow two-lane highways from the more than two hundred furniture manufacturing plants, and other manufacturing facilities in the area.

Agricultural and manufactured products move slowly along dangerous two-lane systems snaking through the Delta.

Traffic through Southwest Mississippi is often stacked along stretches of two-lane highways which need two additional lanes. And the eastern edge of the state is suffering similar transportation pains.

There is an answer. The chairman of the Highways Committee of the Mississippi House of Representatives has developed a plan for an expansive highway construction program, assuring Mississippians of more than 900 miles of four-lane highways and, at the same time, assuring that the new highways would be built on the basis of priority needs, with traffic counts and volumes dictating the construction schedule.

Such a system would open Mississippi to new and unequalled economic expansion.

AMBASSADOR PROGRAM AIDS IN SELLING STATE

The State Board of Economic Development has approved a program aimed at improving the image of our State, both in state and out of state, and in doing so, helping us attract more industries and jobs to Mississippi.

The program is called the Mississippi Ambassadors program and will be officially begun with a rally on Wednesday, Dec. 10, at noon at the Trade Mart in Jackson.

Mississippi Ambassadors, modeled after several successful programs in other states, is designed to help make state and local industrial developers aware of the best selling points of our state.

Our researchers for these selling points are you, the citizens of individual communities. We want you to tell us the positive activities and local achievers and achievements in your communities.

This information will be made available to everyone who is a Mississippi Ambassador through a quarterly newsletter. By spreading this type of information throughout the state, as well as to our former Mississippians living out of state, we can better showcase the quality of life that makes Mississippi a desirable place to live.

In addition, we can fight the negative image that this state has had for decades. We don't suffer so much any more from that negative image; instead, national news people and industrial developers have told me they have no image of Mississippi. Now is our chance to mold that image and better enhance our chances of luring industrial prospects into Mississippi as a state of growth, gains and imagination.

We are not ignoring the problems that exist, but we realize that with renewed economic growth, we can gain additional tax dollars to help solve some of those problems.

We cannot improve our image if we don't begin with our own citizens. For too long, we've been told the areas that we're 50th in. We know that and are working to change it. But what we have not known over the years are the areas that we're first or second or tenth or tops in our region or the nation. That's what we want to acquaint our citizens and the country with.

Our vehicle is the Mississippi Ambassadors program. Ambassadors will be identified by a free official pin and membership card, which includes selling facts on the back.

Anyone can become an Ambassador. All you have to do is say good things about the state, buy Mississippi products, shop in Mississippi, invest in Mississippi companies, travel in Mississippi and invite relatives and friends to do the same, conduct programs on Mississippi on Mississippi for local groups and invite conventions and board meetings to Mississippi.

A good beginning is our kickoff rally on Dec. 10. At this time, we will make everyone in attendance the first group of Mississippi Ambassadors.

To help acquaint you with what our state has to offer, we will feature over 30 food producers from across the state displaying their products in a massive "Taste of Mississippi" display.

We will enjoy the music of the Pearl High School Band, which was recently named one of the top bands in the nation.

We hope you can attend this free event and help us begin a statewide effort at selling Mississippi. You are our best salesmen and women and we need your help in this project.

Teachers urge adequate textbook funding

Nov. 21, 1986
Sea Coast Echo
Letter to the Editor
Bay St. Louis

Dear Editor:

Research shows that textbooks are the primary source of what is covered in class, a vital tool for a teacher and student in the teaching-learning process.

The current textbook appropriation of $7.83 per student in Mississippi is shamefully low. It is hardly enough to buy even half a book especially since the price of textbooks has tripled in the past ten years.

Our students cannot be expected to compete successfully by studying from history books that predate or end with Watergate, science books that are 12 years old, economic books that are 15 years old and readers that fall apart in their hands.

Mississippi's economy will continue on the bottom without students literate to today's world. Textbooks provide the vital information needed. Current textbooks are fundamental to quality education. We cannot afford to allow any student, regardless of how poor the local district's tax resources, to study from out-of-date textbooks.

Mississippi's educational system and economic development depend upon the basic needs of education being met by the state. We as members of the American Federation of Teachers in Mississippi, are proud to be part of the coalition encouraging assertive participation and support for increased textbook funding.

Our recent convention endorsed this goal unanimously. We also urge parents to talk to their legislators about this matter as soon as possible.

Federation of Teachers

priority list of routine work and complaints, deciding which need immediate attention and which can wait.

The supervisors still make the policies governing maintenance work, but Johnson has reorganized the old beat crews into different units he says are more fitting to the unit system.

Under the beat system, each of the five supervisors had his own crew and most of the crews were under the charge of a foreman when the supervisor himself was not actually in the field.

The crews have been redistributed into northern and southern divisions, with Interstate 10 being used as the dividing line. The existing Beat Three barn, a leased site, is being used as a satellite barn for the northern part of the county until a permanent site is selected.

The Beat One barn in Lakeshore, which is county-owned, is being used as a southern satellite.

The satellites are needed, Johnson explained, because some types of equipment are slow and difficult to move and keeping those machines near where they will be used is more practical with regard to fuel costs and time.

The county also has two special crews. One crew at the county landfill in Catahoula has been in existence for several years. The other, whose purpose is beachfront maintenance, was created about the same time the county converted to the unit system.

The beachfront crew is currently working out of what was the Beat Four barn, located off Old Spanish Trail in Bay St. Louis.

Once the central barn is completed, most of the equipment will be kept there. Some has already been moved to the site, Johnson said.

Johnson served as public works administrator for the City of Ocean Springs for two years before being hired by Hancock County and has seven years experience in public administration for the City of Bay St. Louis.

He said he believes the unit system will eventually save on road and bridge maintenance costs.

"I don't think we'll see any money saved the first year, and maybe not the year after that," the superintendent said.

"With the unit system being new, we'll just have to put it into operation and get some of the bugs out before we see any savings."

He said he expects to make a number of modifications in how the system has been set up before it evolves into its final form.

He added that he feels many of the expenses being incurred in implementation, including the more than $79,000 for the central barn, would eventually have been incurred anyway if the beat system had been maintained.

"The barn is a perfect example of something that would have been needed anyway with the growing population and number of roads in the county," Johnson said.

residents have use of a path across that area to the public beach.

Other facilities, such as the post office, Waveland Library, City Hall and several Coleman Avenue businesses are also within walking distance, Ashman said.

In addition to Ashman, who with his wife has taken one of the penthouse units, several families are already living in Friendship Oaks. Some of the other units have been sold but the owners are not actually living on the site yet.

Many of the units, which include townhouses, penthouses and flats, are still available.

Although the decor of the interiors varies, all are equipped with modern conveniences such as custom-made counters and cabinets, all-electric appliances and microwave ovens. Some of the more elaborate units include hot tubs and other specialized items.

Prices range from $30,000 to $10,000, and a temporary sales office has been set up in the recreation room in order that furnished models may be shown from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on weekdays.

"The lay-offs at NASA that were connected to the Challenger disaster sort of slowed sales down. Right now, we're doing a lot of advertising up north and in Canada," Ashman said.

"This kind of environment isn't available up there. You can look out of any of the front units and have a fine view of the beach and the Gulf. It's pleasant to see the people fishing and the shrimp boats passing by."

Ashman said most of the project, except for some landscaping and trim work in some of the common areas like the greenhouse, has been completed.

He said he hopes most of the units will be owner-occupied when sold and expects the majority of his buyers to use them as retirement homes, since the concept of Friendship Oaks is leisurely living.

Clubs, Auxiliaries

Diamondhead Garden Club

Two speakers shared the Diamondhead Garden Club members' attention at their November 19 meeting at the Community Center. Mr. Danny Jackson, director of Hancock County 4-H club activities, gave a detailed talk on the work of the 4-H's, and pointed out that there are 60 projects other than agriculture included in the program.

Mrs. Joan Wochomurka of Fenton, landscape design specialist, distributed literature from the Mississippi Extension Service and spoke on correct landscaping techniques.

The business of the meeting included a report from the president, Ms. Jean Keen, on the recent Flower Show held in conjunction with the Bay-Waveland Garden Club at the Hancock County Fair.

The Garden of the Month plaque was given to Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Van Roo; The Community Beautification award was given to the Yacht Club, and the Favorite Golf Course Garden was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Les Stafford.

Mrs. George Kollasch, litter control chairman, said a program on littering would be given to the students of the Diamondhead Academy. The students will help with the clean-up efforts made next spring when Diamondhead holds its annual Pilgrimage. She also announced an Antique Show and Sale sponsored by the Diamondhead Academy at the Community Center on November 28, 29 and 30.

Mrs. Joseph Finley's horticulture report included tips of important steps to be taken at this time to prepare the garden for the coming winter season. Mrs. George Cassis gave a report on the recently "Tree Tag Day," which she deemed most successful, but said there were still areas of live oaks that needed tagging.

Mrs. Malcom Mundy, a charter and honorary member of the club has graciously offered a piano to the Garden Club.

Mrs. James Hobbs, who is in charge of decorating the Community Center for Christmas activities, said there is a need for more Christmas tree decorations. Members were urged to donate any that they might have.

Members were reminded of the Christmas party to be held December 19 at the Community Center. As has been done for many past Christmases, gifts for those in the Bay St. Louis Nursing Home will be given by each member, with a prize given for the best decorated package.

Garden Park Hospital Auxiliary

The AMI Garden Park Community Hospital Auxiliary held its regular meeting on Friday, Nov. 21 with 24 members present.

Plans were discussed for the Christmas Bazaar to be held at the hospital on Dec. 12 and the Christmas party on Dec. 19. It was also decided that each member would bring a gift for the Gulf Coast Mental Health Center.

As a special treat, the auxiliary had a visitor, Mrs. Ruth Murray, from Gayfer's Department Store, who made a beautiful Christmas wreath, which was then donated to the Auxiliary to be used in a raffle.

Pass Christian Garden Club

The Pass Christian Garden Club's annual Silver Tea Christmas Party will be held on Thursday, Dec. 4 at Oak Crest, home of Mrs. Sally G. Burk on Menage Avenue. Hospitality hours begin at 1 p.m. and close at 3 p.m.

The name of the winners of this club's Mississippi Album Quilt will be drawn during the hospitality hours.

Hostesses include Mrs. Sally G. Burk and Mrs. Roland Martin. Co-hostesses are Mrs. Charles Spillmon, Mrs. Daniel Sentilles, Miss Julia Frey and Mrs. Robert Doe.

Blue Jeans Garden Club

Blue Jeans Garden Club members were required to bring a Thanksgiving or Christmas arrangement of their own creation to be displayed for judging, setting a festive, holiday atmosphere when members met lat Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Garcia in Waveland.

The meeting was opened with the group recitation of the Lord's Prayer led by Mrs. Frank Klein Jr., a co-hostess.

Mrs. Robert Ortis, president, presided.

Mrs. Joseph Roppolo, Christmas luncheon and party chairlady, requested that all reservations be made by contacting her before Dec. 15.

Election of officers for 1987-1988 was held. Elected to serve were Mrs. A. M. Thomas, president; re-elected vice-president, Mrs. Sidney Coogan; re-elected secretary, Mrs. Talmadge Conway and Mrs. Robert Taconi, treasurers.

Entries in the Thanksgiving and Christmas categories were judged and winners were:

Thanksgiving: first place, Mrs. George Heitzman; second place, Mrs. Dorothy Bessey; and third place, Mrs. Klein.

Christmas: first place, Mrs. Christian Neubig; second place, a four-way tie, Mesdames Frank Peterson, Thomas, Clyde Ladner and Edward Fahey; and third place, a five-way tie, Mesdames Taconi, Annabelle Cox, Roppolo, Garcia and Ortis.

Co-hostesses for the social following the meeting were Mesdames Klein, Peterson and William Schaefer.

New flu strain shots available

Mississippians can now get vaccinations for a new strain of flu the Centers for Disease Control expects to become prevalent throughout much of the nation this season. This strain will particularly affect those under age 35.

County health departments have received vaccine shipments and can begin administering the vaccine. The State Department of Health purchased some 15,000 doses for administration at $4 per dose. Many private physicians have also stocked supplies of the new vaccine, designed to provide protection against A/Taiwan/1/86 (H1N1) influenza.

Vaccine supplied through public health clinics early in the fall provides protection from three other strains: A/Mississippi/1/85, A/Chile/1/83, and B/Ann Arbor/1/86.

The State Department of Health purchased 65,000 doses of the trivalent vaccine for distribution through county health departments; most of that had been used by mid-November.

The new vaccine supplements but does not replace the originally distributed trivalent vaccine. State Epidemiologist Dr. Ed Thompson recommends that all individuals 35 and under at high risk for serious complications from the flu—those with chronic disease of the heart or lungs, for example—take the new vaccine.

"Immunization against this new strain of flu, in addition to the strains included in the 'basic' flu vaccine issued earlier, is more important for persons under age 35 because most older people probably have some immunity to the new strain," Dr. Thompson said.

"Strains of flu similar to the new Taiwan strain circulated in this country during the late 1940's and early 1950's, exposing those people who are now 35 and older."

Individuals who wish to schedule an appointment to get this new flu shot may call the county health department between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Diamondhead Krewe names king and queen

The Krewe of Diamondhead selected the king and queen of Land to rule over their 1987 Mardi Gras Ball and parade.

At a recent cook-out and campfire, Captain Benny Mistrretta named Stanley J. Robert to reign as King and Maelys Swartzendruber as his queen.

The theme for this festive session is "America, the Beautiful."

Robert, who is a New Orleans native, moved to Diamondhead over six years ago. When he retired in 1980, Robert was chairman of the board of directors at Guillory-Robert Company, Inc.

He is past president of the New Orleans Food Brokers Association and a past Grand Knight of the Knights of Columbus. He is an active member of the Annunciation Catholic Church, Diamondhead Men's Golf Association, Diamondhead Community Association and Krewe of Diamondhead.

Robert was married to the late Grace Bliven of New Orleans and they have four children and eight grandchildren. In his spare time, Robert enjoys golf, fishing, square dancing and woodwork.

Swartzendruber, the former Maelys Hancock, is a native of Laurel. She married Harold R. Swartzendruber and they lived in Oklahoma City, Okla.

While in Oklahoma City, she was a member of the board of directors for the YMCA and for the Young Life Chapter. She was active in the Girl Scouts of America and in the Baptist Hospital Volunteer Auxiliary.

Seven years ago, the Swartzendrubers retired to Diamondhead. She established the Young Life Chapter in Diamondhead and works with the youth activities in the community. She is the past chairman of the Diamondhead Community Church Little School.

She is an elder in the Diamondhead Community Church, a volunteer of Gulfport Memorial Hospital Auxiliary and a member of the Krewe of Diamondhead.

The Swartzendrubers have four sons, one daughter, eight grandchildren and one great-grandchild. Her hobbies include swimming, cycling, traveling, golf and bridge.

The Coronation Ball will be held on Saturday evening, Jan. 17 at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Dress will be semiformal and music will be provided by the Spectrum. The Coronation Ball will begin with the crowning of the royalty of 1987 by King Ali'i Houma XI Clifford Thomas Satterlee and his Queen Laura Almerica.

USM continues area course offerings

PICAYUNE—Several area residents are continuing their university level real estate studies in local night classes offered by the Division of Lifelong Learning at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Some nine years ago, USM began its offerings in the Picayune area with graduate courses primarily designed for teachers. Today, the extension site offers undergraduate and graduate courses for a wide variety of interests.

"We offer approximately 20 courses per term during the four terms per year," said Dr. William Lewis, USM director of off-campus programs. "Two years ago we began scheduling undergraduate courses and since then, we have included courses in adult education, business education, child development, computer science, English, food and nutrition, physical education and real estate." Real estate instructor Harry Hebert of New Orleans currently drives to the junior high school annex in Picayune each Tuesday for his 6:30 night class. His opinion of his students is high.

"I enjoy the quality and caliber of the students in my classes," Hebert said. "They want to learn, they participate in class and they're not just out for a grade."

Picayune resident and real estate broker Eric Brady, 23, said he took the course because he was interested in finance. Pam Johnson, a 31-year-old commuting teacher from Benford Christian School in Bogalusa, said she would like to continue her real estate studies and become a real estate broker.

Mark Drummond, 38, a plumbing wholesale buyer for Park Supply Co. in Picayune is taking the course for his personal satisfaction and Joyce Pearson is taking it because it's there.

"I'm a professional student," Pearson said emphatically. "I have a real estate license, but it is in an inactive status. I might try to renew it."

Although registration for the current winter term is complete, plans now are being made for spring term classes that will register Feb. 18, 1987.

Wilda Thompson, USM coordinator for off-campus credit programs, constantly works with businesses, industries, school systems and the general public to access community education needs.

According to Thompson, Picayune course offerings are coordinated with the USM classes offered at the nearby National Space Technology Laboratories (NSTL). The NSTL site offers two undergraduate degree programs—one in industrial technology with a manufacturing emphasis and the other in general business administration, she said.

For more information about the Picayune and NSTL class offerings, or to make a suggestion about future classes to be offered at either site, contact Wilda Thompson, Southern Station Box 5055, Hattiesburg, Miss. 39406-5055, or call (601) 288-4210.

Bald eagle reintroduction project allotted special funds

The Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation will present a $5,000 check to Gulf Islands National Seashore for a Bald Eagle Reintroduction project during a ceremony scheduled for 1 p.m. Tuesday, at the William M. Colmer Visitor Center in Ocean Springs.

Seashore Superintendent Jerry Eubanks said the Bald Eagle Reintroduction Project is part of ongoing research efforts of the National Seashore which successfully raised and released four eagles last year.

"These funds will enable the project to continue reintroducing the bald eagle into Mississippi this coming year, with six additional eagles being raised and released on the offshore islands in hopes that they will return to the Mississippi Gulf Coast year after year to live and breed," said Eubanks.

Funding for the project is coming from the Mississippi State Income Tax check-off option for support of non-game research and management.

"We are very pleased that the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation has chosen the Bald Eagle Reintroduction Project at Gulf Islands National Seashore as one of their many wildlife conservation efforts," said Eubanks.

The $5,000 check will be presented by Joseph W. Gex of Bay St. Louis, chairman of the commission to Eubanks.

Several federal, state and local officials are expected to attend the 1 p.m. ceremony at the Gulf Islands National Seashore Visitor Center in Ocean Springs.

Independence Bowl bound Rebs set giant pep rally, barbecue

UNIVERSITY—Excitement over the Ole Miss Rebels' invitation to play in the Independence Bowl in Shreveport, La., is reaching fever pitch.

Less than a week after the invitation, University of Mississippi alumni and fans had already booked all the rooms at the Hilton Inn in Bossier City, La., the Ole Miss Alumni Association's Independence Bowl headquarters. Moreover, they have reserved all available seats on the bus that the association has chartered to transport fans to the game.

A giant Ole Miss pep rally and barbecue at Fairgrounds Hall next to Independence Stadium in Shreveport awaits all those attending the bowl game. Beginning at 4 p.m. Saturday, Dec. 20, the Alumni Association will serve barbecued chicken, sausages, ribs and brisket, corn-on-the-cob, coleslaw, bread and dessert—all for only $6 per person.

While Rebel fans tuck away Southern cooking, the University's Pride of the South Marching Band, cheerleaders, Johnny Rebel mascot and others will serve traditional pep rally fare to galvanize existing enthusiasm to new heights for the game.

Reservations for the barbecue—which is open to all University alumni, fans, staff and students—are not required. Individuals attending are encouraged to park in the stadium parking lot and walk to the barbecue and game. A bright red, white and blue banner will help fans find the pep rally and barbecue.

Ole Miss alumni may obtain tickets to the Independence Bowl by calling the Ole Miss Athletic Ticket Office at (601) 7161 or, toll-free in Mississippi, 1-800-843-7709. Tickets are $20 each, plus a $2 handling charge per order.

Tiger soccer to host Indians

Bay High Junior Varsity and Varsity Soccer Teams will play Biloxi High Indians Tuesday night at Tiger Stadium.

The matches were postponed from last Tuesday due to weather conditions.

Junior varsity plays at 5:30 and varsity at 7 p.m.

"The Tigers invite the community to join them for an evening of soccer. There is no admission fee, team captains Joel Duncan and Mike Grisham reported.

KEEPING FIT

"I don't go to a fitness club, because it's too much trouble packing a gym bag with extra clothes, shower needs, and a blow dryer, driving there and back." ... "I don't run, (walk, bicycle) because I don't have time in the morning, and it's dark by the time I get home from work." ... "I don't like to exercise alone." "The exercise shows on TV are all on before I get in the morning."

These are all valid excuses for not exercising, but now, with all the exercise video tapes on the market, there are no more excuses. Of course, you must have a VCR, but think of it as an investment in your health, and it costs less than membership to a club.

Here is a list of some recommended exercise video tapes:

Of course Jane Fonda's New Workout, leads the list. The tape starts with a 35-minute beginner routine, then moves into an advanced, 55-minute class, for a total of 90 minutes of enthusiastic exercise to make you "burn." $39.95

Do what Bette Midler did in the movie Ruthless People, by getting The Best of Bodies in Motion with Gilad in Hawaii. Excerpts of the Israeli decathlon champions can be seen in the movie. (Midler whittled away 20 pounds) Set against the backdrop of the inspirational Hawaiian islands, the tape is 80 minutes and divided into segments: warm-up, aerobics, floor work and cool down. $49.95.

Self-Made Diabetic

If you're a diabetic, you can change your image the same way. Just ignore your illness, learn to live with the perpetual fatigue and thirst, the frequent urination and blurred vision, then wait a few years. Almost before you know it, you, too, can become blind, lose a leg to nerve damage and bad circulation, cripple your heart and ruin your kidneys. Two million Americans will be hospitalized this year for diabetic complications. The only causes of death that outrank it are heart disease and cancer.

Of course if life as a semi-invalid—or worse—doesn't appeal to you, there are ways to change things for the better, too.

At Tulane University Hospital's Center for Diabetes we teach those life-improving skills as part of the region's largest and most comprehensive diabetes treatment program.

Diabetes treatment must be comprehensive because the disease is so pervasive. The diabetic's body can't control the levels of sugar in the blood stream and body tissues. If you aren't controlling your diabetes properly, you needn't wonder if any of this will happen to you. It is happening to you. The only question is when and where the complications will erupt.

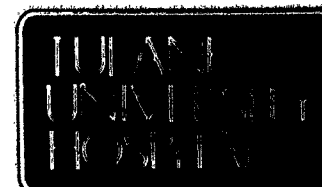

Since there's no cure, the price of continuing good health is eternal vigilance—yours and your medical team's. At Tulane that team consists of respected physicians in a variety of relevant specialties, like endocrinology, nephrology, obstetrics and gynecology, neurology and ophthalmology. And if there is a need for expertise in another area, the Diabetes Center can draw upon the skills of some 250 Tulane Medical Center physicians and surgeons representing virtually every medical sub-specialty. The team also has a psychologist, a dietician, an exercise specialist and nurses who are specially trained to teach and monitor diabetic patients.

They will work with you on an outpatient or inpatient basis to stabilize your blood sugar level, then teach you how to monitor it yourself—and to bring it back to acceptable levels if it rises. If complications already exist or develop, we can provide the most up-to-date treatment to reverse or minimize their effects.

What we're teaching is a disciplined lifestyle with some limitations and annoyances. You'll need to be properly motivated. So talk with your own doctor. Have him call us, if you like. Then imagine to yourself what it's like to be blind, or impotent, or confined to a wheelchair, or dependent on a dialysis machine.

Then call us.
